PATRIOT'S DAY

Patriots Day has a far deeper meaning to Americans than as a symbol of the past. We honor those heroes of the Revolution who pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to create the United States. More than that, we renew our strength from their example of courage and determination. Patriotism is the mortar which binds the foundation of our Republic. The strength of the structure of our government depends absolutely upon the patriotic conviction of each citizen. Honor and Patriotism built our country and remain the indispensable keystone of the United States.

A motion was made to buy a life preserver for the Fire Department. This is another Community project. Under the lecturer's program, Marilyn Lewis, lecturer, presented Fire Chief Kenneth Wood who presented from his department Russell Tinkham, Rev. Frederic Reynard and Allan Perkins, who in turn exhibited and explained the resuscitation, gas masks and walkie talkie. This was most interesting to the Junior members who also asked questions. Before the firemen left, they showed the con-

I was under the impression they had a gun planted in such a position as to rake the pass of the narrow river, I threw a few shells over in hopes I might force them to fire her.' The Confederates, according to English's report, refused to fire back."

To see the difference between a Federal report and a Confederate report of the same action, consider the following:

Mar. 2 "Lt. Commander English of the U.S. gunboat Sagamore, off the Indian River Inlet on the Florida East Coast, this morning ordered an expedition inland to capture the Confederate schooner Florence Nightingale which was loading cotton in Mosquito Inlet near the town of New Smyrna. The Federal boat expedition consisted of a launch, two cutters, a gig, and a crew of 41. As the Federals were moving up river they found that the Confederate schooner had been set afire. Shelling the surrounding area, the Federals attempted to board the vessel, but were met by shots from a party of some 25 to 30 men concealed in the bushes behind a nearby embankment. Unable to put out the fire they watched the vessel sink in the river, and then deciding that the objective of the expedition had been accomplished they returned to their ship. The engagement, according to the Federals lasted about 20 minutes and resulted in one killed and five wounded. It is believed that one Confederate was either killed or wounded also. On their return the Federal vessels were fired upon again for about a half mile by scattered sharpshooters concealed along the banks."

The Confederates report this same incident as follows: "Captain D. A. Martin (formerly of New Orleans) of Schooner Florence Nightingale, lying at New Smyrna being made ready for sea with a cargo of cotton, was attached by Gunboats and shelled for some time without effect, during which time Captain M. rallied his crew and a number of teamsters engaged in hauling cotton to his vessels, when barges were sent in to capture her. Approaching within twenty or thirty yards, the Captain set fire to the Schooner, and awaited the approach of the Yankees. His men opened upon them with terrific fire, killing 15 or 20 of the men and wounding as many more. The barges then made a retreat without firing a shot. Captain M. jumped on board his vessel, put out the fire, throwing overboard ten or fifteen bags, and went to sea with jib and foresail, his mainsail having been destroyed by the fire, together with nearly all of his provisions."

The patriots who fought and won the American Revolutionary War regarded the Declaration of Independence as a "Holy Writ". It was to them a message from Heaven, repeating that part of the Lord's Prayer, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in Heaven".

To them, everything and all, was contained in the summary: "That all men are born equal, that they are endowed by Their Creator with the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

This divine message was indeed burned deeply into their hearts: "That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, basing their just powers upon the consent of the governed."

That, folks, is how it all happened -- the greatest system of government ever devised by man. And, that's the way we must keep it.

This great American heritage, secured for us by sacrifice and hard work, is not self-perpetuating, and it is constantly under attack by subversives. Our traditional principles have been scrapped by millions of people, in favor of "a new Philosophy -- conceived in the womb of Socialism, born in an era of social and economic conflict, and nursed in the lap of Communism. In contrast, is the creed that true Americans live by, as enunciated by Paul Harvey, noted commentator: "I believe in my God, and in my Country, and in myself -- and, in that order."

The first four words of the Preamble to the American Legion Constitution are: "For God and Country."

CARL DE SUZE TO SPEAK IN WAREHAM

The Wareham American Legion Post 220 and its Auxiliary are planning an evening with Carl de Suze and his latest illustrated lecture, "Southeast Asia, The Tiger We Ride". The show will be held at the Wareham Town Hall, Tuesday, April 23rd, at 8:00 P.M. Proceeds from the benefit will go towards the Legion and Auxiliary Scholarship Fund which is offered every year to the most promising high school student.

Once more Carl de Suze applies his reporting skills, cameras and microphone to an embattled area of the world, bringing alive the issues, personalities and events, which, though distant, involve us as a nation and as individuals.

In perhaps the most colorful documentary he has produced in sixteen years as an on-the-scene witness to the"wind of change" around the globe, the kaleidoscopic richness of landscapes and peoples of the East is detailed as perceptively as the power vortex in which Americans today are fighting to preserve and strengthen free societies.

Japan erupting as the economics giant of Southeast Asia is revealed as a tailored countryside harnessing its industrial power to ancient traditions, and moving smoothly into an exciting period of democracy. The tranquil pagodas of the past are contrasted with the dynamism of its seething Westernization.

South Vietnam's war with an invisible enemy on a battleground with no front is observed through the missions of the helicopter pilots and U. S. Rangers, who court death daily in the mountainous jungles.

Cambodia, like a bright bauble coveted by both East and West, dances enigmatically in the sun. Thailand, a staunch ally, and now guardian of the cordon of freedom on the Indo-China peninsula, bristles with temples and bayonets.

From the mossy grandeur of Ankgor Wat to the sprawling villages of Laos the camera scans the cast of characters and the forces at play, illustrating our own need for awareness, larger effort and probable sacrifice if peace is to be restored to Southeast Asia with U. S. help.... if we are to tame the tiger we ride. The Legion and Auxiliary hope to bring some of this emerging continent's force and color to the local residents by presenting this show.

Tickets can be purchased from any Legion or Auxiliary members. Or by calling CY 5-1590 or CY 5-1876. Also they may be obtained at the door.

Dear friends,

In years past, the funeral director's chief function was the care of the departed. This is still of utmost importance, of course.

But to an even greater degree there is a responsibility to the living. We do our best to provide comfort and privacy for the family and friends.

Respectfully,
